Dubai welcomes the Vision V – a fascinating outlook on the future top-end model VLS

More than a month after its world premiere in Shanghai, the Vision V is still talk of the town. End of May, the show car starts its global Grand Tour, first stopover will be in Dubai. The Vision V – a highly elegant chauffeur-driven limousine with a special focus on the “Private Lounge” and the utmost comfort – provides a fascinating outlook on the future Mercedes-Benz VLS.

New Era

Starting 2026, Mercedes-Benz will introduce its newly developed, modular and scalable Van Architecture – and sets the course for a completely new era. This architecture allows for a clear differentiation between privately positioned Grand Limousines and commercial transporters. As added value for customers is key for Mercedes-Benz, future MPVs and transporters will suit perfectly the customers’ needs and demands, in terms of design, functions and usability.

Grand Limousines

The future models of privately positioned MPVs – also known as Grand Limousines – will be named as Mercedes-Benz VLE and Mercedes-Benz VLS. While the VLE with up to 8 seats will range from flexible vehicles for families and leisure active customers to exclusive VIP shuttles, the VLS will define a unique segment of its own that bestows true greatness to automotive luxury. The VLS will expand the Mercedes-Benz MPV portfolio into the top-end-segment.
